BRYAN ON EXPANSION.

Bryan Quotes From Both the Dead and the Living.

JUSTICE NOT STRENGTH SHOULD REIGN

William J. Bryan, in a signed statement in the Journal says, after quoting Jefferson in opposition to imperialism.
"If it is said that we have outgrown the ideas of the fathers, it may be observed that the doctrine laid down by Jefferson was reiterated only a few years ago by no less a Republican than James G. Blaine. All remember the enthusiasm with which he entered into the work of bringing the republics of North and South America into close and cordial relations. Some, however, may have forgotten these resolutions introduced by him at the conference held in 1890 and approved by the Commissioners present. They are as follows:

BLAINE'S RESOLUTION.
"1. That the principle of conquest shall not during the continuance of the treaty of arbitration be recognized as admissible under American law."

"2. That all cessions of territory made during the continuance of the treaty of arbitration shall be void if made under threats of war in the presence of an armed force."

"3. Any nation from which such cessions shall be exacted may demand that the validity of the cessions made shall be submitted to arbitration."

"4. Any renunciation of the right of arbitration made under the conditions named in the second section shall be null and void."

Mr. Bryan quotes President McKinley's message of 1897, in which he said:

"I speak not of forcing annexation for that cannot be thought of. That, by our code of morality, would be criminal aggression."

He continues:

"Surely we know not what a day may bring forth in so short a time criminal aggression can be transformed into philanthropy at 5 per cent."

"What beauty, what riches, the isles of the Pacific must possess if they can tempt our people to abandon not only the traditions of a century, but our standard of national morality."

What visions of national greatness the Philippines must arouse if the very sight of them can lead our country to vie with the monarchies of the old world in the extension of sovereignty by force.

"Jefferson has been called an expansionist, but our opponents will search in vain for a single instance of which he advocated the acquisition of remote territory."

On the contrary, he expressly disclaimed any desire for land outside of the North American continent.

Jefferson is quoted at length against expansion, and Mr. Bryan resumes:

"The alien may possess greater intelligence and greater strength, but lacks the sympathy for and the identification with the people. We have only to recall the grievances enumerated in the declaration of independence to learn how an ocean may dilute justice and how the cry of the oppressed can be silenced by distance; and yet the inhabitants of the colonies were the descendants of Englishmen—blood of their blood and bone of their bone."

"And yet the imperialists of today, intoxicated by a taste of blood, are rash enough to enter upon the government of the Philippines, confident of the Nation's ability to compel obedience, even if it can not earn gratitude or win affection. Plutarch said that men entertained three sentiments concerning the ancient gods:

"They feared them for their strength, admired them for their wisdom, and loved them for their justice."

"Jefferson taught the doctrine that governments should win the love of our nation—to be loved because it is just, or to be feared because it is strong."

For the Blind.

The report of the Kentucky Institution for the Education of the Blind covering the work of the year 1898, is out.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her doctor suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at J. H. Orme's Drugstore. Only 50c and $1.00, every bottle guaranteed.

The Tobacco Trade.

The year 1898 was one of disappointment in the leaf tobacco trade because of declining values and reduced offerings. However, the average of the sales was high and the money received did not fall greatly short of that obtained in 1897. The average price per hoghead last year was $65 and this year was $88, notwithstanding the close fields all grades selling much below the prices of a year ago, the decline being 30 to 50 per cent. on the good to fine types of Burley. The trashes, lugs and common leaf continue in good demand and are relatively high, though even they are selling below the quotations of December, 1897.—Courier Journal.

Congressman-elect Roberts Defends Polygamy and Will Keep His Wife.

INVITES A CONTEST IN THE COURTS

Salt Lake special to the Evening World says:

Congressman-elect B. H. Roberts today made the following statement to the Evening World correspondent:

"If a time comes when it necessary for me to defend myself I shall be there right on the spot, and I appreciate that the members of Congress and the American people are more liberal, broad minded and generous than a few bigoted and contracted preachers of the Presbyterian church, whose training, mode of life and trend of thought tend to unfit them for practical life."

"Joseph Smith received a commandment from the Lord to introduce our order of marriage into the church, and on the strength of that revelation and not by reasons of anything that is written in the Jewish Scriptures, the Latter Day Saints practice plural marriage. Polygamy is not adultery, for if it were so considered then Abraham, Jacob and the prophets who practiced it would not be allowed a heritage in the kingdom of heaven and if polygamy is not adultery, then it cannot be classed as a sin at all. It appears to me that modern Christians must either learn to tolerate polygamy or give up forever the glorious hope of resting in Abraham's bosom."

"That which God approves and so strikingly approves, must be not only not bad, but positively good, pure and holy."

"Notwithstanding this, however, the hand of the Gentiles was laid so heavy upon the people of the Lord that in His mercy, God permitted them to cease therefrom from expediency and true to the pledges given by the church, no polygamous marriages have been celebrated by the church, but not even the church can take away from a man the wives it has already given him. They are his and for eternity, and I think the great world minded and just American people will not require a man to give up the wives he has with whom he has lived, nor to abandon his children."

At the most, Mr. Roberts says his offense is unlawful cohabitation, and he remarked:

"I am here, and the courts are open. If anyone wants to test the point the way is clear."

It has been urged by some that Roberts, owing to the operation of the Edmunds-Tucker act, which disfranchised all polygamists, is legally barred from taking his seat in Congress.

In regard to this, Mr. Roberts says he has had the best legal advice obtainable which convinces him that there are no legal obstacles in the way of his taking the seat.

After Roberts.

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 31.—The Senate today adopted by a unanimous vote a resolution requesting the Kansas representatives in Congress to use their utmost endeavors to prevent the seating of B. H. Roberts, the polygamist of Utah, as a member of the next House of Representatives.

Old Maids' Convention Jan. 7.

A number of young ladies of Marion will present to the public the Old Maids' Convention Saturday night. The play has been presented by the young ladies of various towns, and has always met with the warmest commendation from the public. It is supposed to be a convention of old maids assembled for the purpose of successfully angling for the lords of creation. It is a fine piece of humor throughout, and the evening's entertainment is closed with a beautiful fan drill. The net proceeds will be donated to the work of improving the new cemetery. The young ladies deserve, and we hope, will have a crowded house.

STARS AND STRIPES

Grace Every Dome in the Gem of the Antilles.

LAST OF THE SPANIARD IN THE WEST

HAVANA, January 2.—After 400 years Spain has surrendered control of Cuba, and the red and yellow flag is at last removed from all the West. The Stars and Stripes now wave over Havana, from the palace, from stern Morro Castle, from grim Cabanas fortress and from all other public buildings. The ceremonies incident to the transfer of the island from Spanish to American control were carried out according to programme and without a hitch. Tearfully Capt. Gen. Castellanos bade adieu to his comrades; fervently he grasped the hands of his former enemy, the Cuban, and cordially shook the hand of his victor, the American. Thus did Spain pass from the New World, thus did the United States mark the end of another victorious war.

Nine Cuban Generals went with the Americans to do honor at the palace, to show their appreciation of the kindly officers of the United States in lifting from their fertile island the hand of oppression, and to give assurance of their belief that the military control of Cuba by the United States pointed the surest and quickest way to the government of the Gem of the Antilles by her own people.

On the stroke of noon Sunday, to the strains of the Spanish Royal March by an American band, down came the flag of Spain. Directly afterwards, at 12:04 o'clock, up went the Stars and Stripes to the music of the "Star Spangled Banner," and on the birth of a new year came to Cuba its first breath of freedom.

Directly after the ceremonies Capt. Gen. Castellanos left the palace, and, escorted by Americans, embarked for Matanzas, leaving Maj. Gen. Brooke Governor of all Cuba.

At a reception in the palace saloon after the official ceremonies, many Cuban and Spaniards who intended to remain in Cuba paid their respects to Gen. Brooke and promised allegiance to the United States. The Cuban Generals present assured the United States Military Governor that they would do everything in their power to help restore the island to a condition of peace and prosperity.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God in his infinite wisdom, to call our beloved brother, J. H. Yandell, from his labors on earth, where he had wrought so diligently and faithfully for so many years in the terrestrial lodge below, to the celestial lodge above, where under the scrutinizing eye of our Grand Master above, all of his works are tried by the square, plumb and level, and we believe and have the evidence of the life he lived during his allotted time with us, that he was found by the Master Builder to be a perfect ashlar, a fit stone for that "temple whose maker and builder is God," and while we, his brethren of the mystic tie, deplore his loss in our lodge on earth, we bow in humble submission to this sad dispensation, believing that our loss is his eternal gain, and our faith in God, according to the teachings of our noble institution bid us look up and beyond the grave, confidently hoping ere long to meet him in that temple above where we will be reunited together with that endless chain of brotherly love, truth and friendship.

Now to his bereaved family in this their hour of bereavement, we extend to them our deepest sympathy and point them to the God in whom he had put his trust and recommend them to His tender mercies, who is ever ready to cheer the widow and the orphan, who look to Him and trust Him as their savior.

Bro. Yandell departed this life on Sunday Dec. 25, 1898, in his 52nd year. He had been a mason for 27 years and had been a member of the Presbyterian church since 1875. Now in the death of Bro. Yandell, he resolved:

1. His wife has lost a true and faithful husband, the children a tender and devoted father, his church a faithful, consistent and useful member, and his lodge a true and faithful craftsman, whose labor of love and usefulness we shall sadly miss.
2. That our lodge be draped in mourning and the brethren wear the usual badge for 30 days, and a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minute books of the lodge, a copy furnished the family of our deceased brother and a copy furnished the Crittenden Press, with request to publish same.

Done by order of Hurricane Lodge No. 571, F. & A. M., Dec. 27, 1898, P. O. Moore, T. A. Minner, T. J. Hamilton, R. A. LaRue, Committee.

Last week Sid Cruce and Bill Kimbell, two of the colored hands in Jarvis' stemmy had a little misunderstanding, and Cruce inserted the point of his knife into Kimbell's back, deftly opening a vein and letting some blood out. VANDALISM.

Office Building of the Spar Company. Destroyed By Incendiarism.

On Saturday night December 24, unknown persons visited the spar mines, near Crittenden Springs and wantonly destroyed and burned property belonging to the Kentucky Floor Spar Co. The office building with its contents was burned and the clothing, valuable watch and other personal effects of Mr. Watkins, the foreman, were in the fire; his loss was between $200 and $300, besides the company's loss. The engine and pumps were broken, at most all points that could be easily injured.

The damage was so considerable that a temporary shut-down was necessary. It was a wanton piece of destruction and the guilty persons, if discovered, should be punished to the full extent of the law, which would be a term in the penitentiary for incendiarism. What prompted the act is a mystery, and the affair is in no wise chargeable to the employees of the company. In the first place, none of the men working at the mines are capable of such acts, and the business relations of the company have been pleasant and honorable with everybody in every particular.

It is to be hoped that no pains will be spared in ferreting out the guilty persons.

TOWN NOT WANTED.

Citizens of Shady Grove Prefer No Incorporation.

A few days ago County Judge Rochester received the following paper: "Whereas no election was held for the election of officers of the town of Shady Grove, Ky., at the last November election. Now we the undersigned citizens of said town, representing a majority of same would respectfully ask the Judge of the Crittenden County Court not to appoint officers for said town, same not being necessary, there being no occasion for the incorporation of said town.

J. D. Elder, J. L. Gardner, T. E. Cannon, D. D. Woodson, J. W. Barnhill, W. F. Truitt, W. T. Bunchfield, G. W. Mitchell, J. W. Cloyd, R. F. Lemon, D. M. Hubbard, G. W. Cannon, T. E. Lizenbee, W. F. McConnell, Z. F. Davis, C. H. Barnhill.

It seems that an order was made some years ago by Judge Moore declaring the incorporation of the town of Shady Grove null and void. Last year a number of citizens asked Judge Rochester to appoint trustees. Not knowing of the order made by his predecessor, the trustees were appointed, but no election was held last fall, and a portion of the citizens again asked the county court to appoint trustees, and the above petition shows that the voters of the town are divided upon the subject. Judge Rochester found the order of Judge Moore, and holds that the town is not incorporated, and declines to appoint trustees.

DEATH'S HARVEST.

The Old and the Young Cut Down by the Grim Reaper.

Mr. Samuel G. Clark, a well known citizen of Livingston county, died at his home in the Salem Valley, Monday Jan. 2, after several months illness of consumption. Mr. Clark was one of the best known citizens of this section. He was born in Tennessee in 1847, and came with his father, Geo. M. Clark, to Crittenden county in 1852, settling at Dycusburg, where the elder Clark worked as a blacksmith and wagon-maker until 1869, when he moved to Pinckneyville. S. G. Clarked his father's trade and remained with him until his twenty-fourth year, when he bought a farm, the one upon which he died, and began agricultural pursuits. He was a success as a farmer, a man of fine sense, and wonderful energy he soon accumulated a fair portion of this world's goods. In 1878 he was elected magistrate in the Salem district and served in that capacity with marked ability. He was an official member of the Baptist church at Pinckneyville, and took a leading part in all church work.

He was married to Ellen Dorroh, a daughter of C. C. Dorroh, Dec. 29, 1875. Six children were born of the union, three of whom with the good wife survive him.

The death of Mr. Henry Hunt, which occurred Dec. 22, removed one of the most promising young men of the county, and his death is lamented by everybody who knew him. His brother died in October, and some five weeks ago, Henry's wife died—all three were victims of typhoid fever, and each contracted it while caring for the other.

Henry Hunt was a man of fine sense, and more than ordinary energy. By dint of hard labor, rather than through advantageous circumstances, he acquired a good common school education, beginning his effort for it after he was grown. Two years ago, he secured a first-class certificate, when so many failed; he served two years as a justice of the peace and his service was very acceptable to his constituency.

He was a gentleman in every sense a christian, pleasant affable and readily made friends. Had he lived he would have made his mark.

Mr. J. H. Yandell, a well known citizen, died at his home three miles west of town, Sunday Dec. 25, after a brief illness. Up to a few hours before his death, his illness was not considered dangerous, and he sat up and was cheerful and his friends anticipated his early recovery. At noon Sunday he grew suddenly worse, and at 7 o'clock passed away.

He was born in Hopkins county fifty-two years ago, and came to this county about the time he was grown. He married a Miss Armstrong and settled here, rearing a family. He was an ardent Mason, and stood high in the fraternity.

He was a good citizen in every way, and many friends will cherish in their memory his name, and kindly face.

He was buried with Masonic honors at Chapel Hill cemetery. Lal Clifton the youngest son of Mr. J. H. Clifton, died at his home in Dycusburg, Dec. 22, of a week's illness of appendicitis. He was a bright, lovable, manly boy, in his fifteenth year, and his death was indeed a sad blow to his relatives, as well as a large circle of friends. He lived in Marion a while and made many friends here, especially with his teachers and the pupils in his grades. The bereaved family have the warmest sympathy of the people of Marion as well as those of Dycusburg.

Mrs. Kittie Hughes, the widow of the late Leander Hughes died yesterday at the home of her son, William Hughes, about 1½ miles east of town. She was 85 years old, and was well known throughout the county.

Mrs. Lucas, relict of the late Sid Lucas, died at her home in the Hurricane neighborhood Dec. 22.

Thursday evening of last week Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Orme gave a reception in honor of their guests, Mr. W. C. Bland and wife, of Uniontown. The guests present were Misses Alice Browning, Kittie Woods, Pearl Cook, Laura Miles, and Della Baras, and Messrs. O. M. James, Fannie Hearin, W. D. Baird and Amelias Weldon. A delightful evening was spent by the young people. Refreshments consisting of ices and cakes were served. Mrs. Bland is a sister of Mr. J. H. Orme; she has quite a number of acquaintances in Marion, and they were pleased to meet the charming guests of the Orme's. Mr. and Mrs. Orme entertain in delightful way.

Mr. Ben Tucker has been confined to his room several weeks. He has been in poor health all fall, and recently has been unable to be out. It is feared that he has spinal trouble.

Mr. J. D. Farris, of Salem, was in town Monday. He and Mr. Harry Rutter have been in the mercantile business together, but Mr. Rutter retired from the firm the first of the year and expects to go to Colorado next month. Mr. Rutter is one of Livingston's best young men and his leaving the county is regretted by his many friends.

Mr. W. R. Cruce left the first of the year for Texas, which state is his headquarters while traveling for the National Lead and Oil Company. While he has been engaged to travel this year, his health is still impaired from the severe spell of sickness he had last summer, and he may not be able to continue his work. He is a very valuable man for his company, and commands a handsome salary.

Mr. D. S. Hill returned from Chicago the first of the week, where he spent several days attending the National Commercial Teachers' Federation. He was elected President of the Federation—a very great honor, but one fully merited by Mr. Hill. He, though a young man, is one of the best commercial teachers in the country, and who has rapidly gone to the front in his profession. As a penman, he has few superiors and we might say few equals. He is at present connected with the Sturgis college.

BOOK NOTICE.

STORY OF CAESAR. By M. Clarke, author of "Story of Troy," "Story of Aeneas." Cloth, 12mo, 173 pages. Price 45 cents. American book Company, New York, Cincinnati, and Chicago.

This book tells the story of one whom Shakespeare called "the foremost man of all the world." It relates, in a style at once attractive and intelligible to young, and interesting to adult readers, all the important events in the wonderful career of the famous Roman, who was at the same time illustrious as a warrior, orator, statesman and historian. It describes his early life and then recounts the achievements in war and peace, the campaigns, battles and victories by which this wonderful man built up the mightiest empire of ancient times. It also gives, by way of appropriate introduction, a brief sketch of Rome before Caesar's time, describing the origin of the famous city, its system of government, and some of the great personages who figured in its earlier history. A special feature of interest and attraction is Shakespeare's story of the death of Caesar, as given in his play, the greater part of which is reproduced by way of appendix to the book, with ample explanations of the text to render it more intelligible to the young reader. Another useful addition is the opinions of eminent writers on the subject.

Instantly when you pull the trigger. So sickness may come on suddenly. But it takes time to load the gun, and it takes time to get ready for those explosions called Coughs, colds, any "attack," whatever the subject be, often means preceding weakness and poor blood. Are you getting thin? Is your appetite poor? Are you losing that snap, energy and vigor that make "clear-headedness"? Do one thing: build up your whole system with SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil. It is the essence of nourishment. It does not nauseate, does not trouble the stomach. And it replaces all that disease robs you of.

ters, both ancient and modern, on the life and character of Caesar. These will enable the reader to acquire a view of Caesar as presented by persons most competent to form a correct judgement of his merits and achievements.

The artistic features of the story are in keeping with its literary excellence. In addition to reference maps, showing all the places mentioned, there are numerous illustrations of Roman and Gallic soldiers, Roman arms and armor, warships and siege engines, besides many full page pictures of historic scenes in the life of Caesar.

A Surprise Party.

MR. EDITOR:—Did you ever hear of the "ill wind, which don't blow nobody no good, no how." I have, verbatim. But I am not writing about that wind, but the one which struck the west end of Marion on the evening of the 24th, the paragon in particular. Such a confused mass of people, sacks, baskets, etc., are not seen every day, at any home. The bright shining faces of these storm-tossed people would be a study for a painter; and the faces of the pastor and his family (after the company left) would make another.

They came over the sacks of flour, barrels of corn, dried fruit, butter, eggs, chickens, potatoes, pickles, preserved fruits, oatmeal, hominy, sausage meat, sugar, coffee, tea, canned corn, etc. Then while the family were at the Christmas tree, one dear friend sent her contribution; the friend who years ago never failed to send a large basket filled with nice things to the old paragon. May Heaven's richest blessings reward one and all, from little Nonnie up to the oldest one of the dear ones.

In the Good Old Town of Mayfield— Blind Tigers Must Go.

MAYFIELD Ky., Dec. 30.—The first night saws in the history of Mayfield is now being made upon the blind tigers' heads, known as "blind tigers." All the ministers of the town, together with a few other citizens, have secured a board of inquiry and five hundred citizens, including those of every vocation, and boys of all ages have been subpoenaed to appear before the board and be closely questioned. The preachers sit in the room and gaze into the eyes of the witnesses, and as a result of this plan forty eight indictments have been returned involving fourteen well known men. Among those in jail are Cochran and Doran, proprietors of the Broadway Hotel, and two white women with small children. While the war on them is generally indorsed, many of the citizens are disturbed over being carried into the presence of the respective preachers and forced to expose themselves. The board is to remain in active session till local option is thoroughly established. The town has endured the nuisance for twenty years, which has been many times suppressed.

GREENBACKS or Government Money.

At close of our Civil War in 1865, there appeared in the London Times the following:

"If that mischievous financial policy which had its origin in the North American Republic during the late Civil War in that country, should become indurated down to a fixture, then that government will furnish its money without cost. It will have all the money that is necessary to carry on its trade and commerce. It will become prosperous beyond precedent in the history of civilized nations of the world. The brain and wealth of all countries will go to North America. THAT GOVERNMENT MUST BE DESTROYED OR IT WILL DESTROY EVERY MONARCHY ON THIS GLOBE."

The famous Hazard circular, to capitalists in New York, and the Buell Bank circular to United States Bankers, both emanating from London, and the fabulous corruption fund raised in England and Germany, estimated at $1,500,000, were the agents that secured the closing of our mints against silver.

The "walk into my parlor" policy of England, during and since the Spanish War, is the latest evidence of English Diplomacy in shaping the destiny of the United States Government.

Notwithstanding the famine price of wheat, the Spanish War, and fabulous expenditures of money by our government during the past year, gold has increased in value eleven per cent, and all other values decreased in the same proportion.

For a thorough understanding of the money question, or silver issue, the Cincinnati Enquirer has uniformly given evidence of its ability to teach, explain and produce all facts and truth. It is a paper that ought and can be read by all classes with pleasure and profit.
